EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE W.E.C.U;

The President and Officers, together with the first named representative of each of the above Counties.

SELECTION COMMITTEE: A.C. Brown, F.C. Kingdon, R.H. Newman, D.G. Woodruff,

As the main chess season draws to an end and many clubs think about closing for the summer, we can reflect on the major events of the season - Devon wins both the English Counties and the Minor Counties Championships in the Union and go forward with hope inspired by their ageless captain Ron Bruce into the quarter and semi-finals respectively. Gloucester qualify for the quarter finals as runners-up and, to both these great Union teams, go the well wishes of all Union chess players.

During the coming summer months the County and Union graders will be frantically working to ensure that the Western Union Grading List is published on September 1st.

The Editor will be doing his annual switch of loyalty from Devon to Somerset as the cricket season approaches.

Summer Congresses continue to flourish and new ones blossom forth as sponsorship in chess increases.

The BCF Council meeting is in July at Birmingham and who knows what momentous decisions may come out of that?

One thing is certain - the Western Union is flourishing and will continue to do so - and it will also continue to improve the standard of organisation and playing facilities for all those chess players young and old in its jurisdiction.

ROUND THE COUNTIES

Peter Clarke won the Cornwall County Championship with $4\frac{1}{2}$ points. Runners-up were J.A. Anstead and K.W. Lloyd with 4 points.

The Portsmouth Chess Congress held in February attracted 68 competitors in the Premier and 77 in the Major. In the Premier A.J. Whiteley and C.S.Crouch shared 1st place with $5\frac{1}{2}$ points out of a possible 6 and in the Major I.A. Welch won outright with $5\frac{1}{2}$ points out of a possible 6.

In Somerset, the County Individual Championship was reorganised as a 6 round Swiss Competition open to all Somerset players. It took placed on 3 Saturdays during the season and attracted 16 entries including the reigning champion David Hick (188) and Gerald Moore (198).

In round 2 Martyn Sellars (159) defeated David Hick (188): In round 3 Gerald Moore (198) lost to David Holmes (151) and in round 5 Jim Fewkes (147) beat Max Poolake (176). Martyn Sellars held a clear lead at the end of round 2 and maintained it until round 5 when Bob Poole (174) defeated him and went into the final round with 4 points. A draw in the final round with Moore proved sufficient for Bob Poole to emerge as the new champion and win the DENYS BONNER trophy.

What a splendid way to run a championship and all credit to Jim Fewkes who did all the organisation for this and the ROY HASSELL tournament for players graded under 140. This was won by M.H. Wheeler.

In Devon, the East Devon Congress was sponsored this year by the London and Manchester Assurance Group and held at Exeter University. A record 219 entries was received including 34 in the Newcomers which is fed chiefly by youngsters from the local junior congresses.

The Open Tournament was won by J.D.M. Nunn with $4\frac{1}{2}$ points out of 5. In the Major D.J. Holmes (winning the SCHOFIELD) trophy) and P. Hutchings shared the first prize with $4\frac{1}{2}$ points out of 5.

THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH

In the good old days before calculators were accepted in schools as a substitute for brains it used to be considered a great honour for a schoolboy to be considered worthy of playing for his county at chess. I can recall, at the age of 12, I was invited to play in the annual 100 board a side match for Middlesex against Surrey. Board No. 1 was W. Vinter Esq. I was board No. 100. I walked from where I lived at Highgate to St. Bride's Institute near Ludgate Circus. My parents kindly gave me a few coppers for the fare home. The cost of the tea was left to me. Either I paid for it out of my sixpence a week pocket money or I went without. I was warned by my parents to properly conduct myself in a gentlemanly fashion and to do my best for my team. I even had to wash behind my ears! Despite this I was thrilled to bits.

Times have certainly changed. At a recent County match it was suggested to a certain match captain that tea and board fees should be paid for by the County for the appearance of one schoolboy.

Summing up, one can, from these comments, say that in 1924 it was an honour for a boy to be selected for his county and that in 1979 it is an honour for the County to have a small boy playing!

Perhaps I am getting cynical in my old age - or am I?

R.N.

N.B. My defeat early in the season by a very youthful member of the Wiltshire County Chess Association in no way had an influence on the above article!

COUNTY LOYALTY

In the West of England the County Championship has always been regarded by most as the most important event in the chess calender, and, until recently, defaults were of a very rare occurence. This year, however, there has been an alarming increase in unexplained defaults, and, without doubt, this has had a serious effect on the championship. Over 50 defaults have occured this season and this is simply not good enough. County match captains have a very difficult job to do and if they are let down at the last moment by players just not turning up, not only is it maddening for the captain, but it is demoralising for those loyal players – who are fortunately in the majority – who turn up to find they have no opponent to play, and their Saturday is wasted.

It is, and always should be, an honour to play for one's County. To be selected, to accept, and then not turn up without even the courtesy of a telephone call is the act of a cad.

Efficient organisation and loyalty has always been the price of the Western Union. There are those of us who will ensure that this is not wrecked by a thoughtless minority.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

" Dear Mr. Newman,

Dorset County Matches

I am a member of Southborne Chess Club playing below E. Weetman (my grading of 146 may be a little optimistic?) and living but 200 mards from him. A 67 year old antique but on the telephone and willing to play when (as usually so) able.

What brought this up? - fair question! Looking at the excellent Westward Ho! and seeing a loss by default and wandering whether a last minute telephone call might at least have given someone a fight for that point?

Hope you are the right person to contact.

Yours sincerely

Charles F. Cooper "

(I feel sure that Mr. Cooper will not object to my publishing his letter. I feel it most appropriate in view of the article in this edition on COUNTY LOYALTY. I cannot, however, agree with Mr. Cooper in describing his youthful 67 as being antique! - ED.).

" Dear Mr. Newman,

I was extremely interested in Dave Jarrett's article in the New Year Edition of 'Westward HO' and his appeal for more financial support to assist youngsters on an international plane.

He says the cradle of Junior Chess in the West of England must be Plymouth because over the past 25 years they have held different age group championships which have often included players from outside Devon.

This may be true but I doubt whether anybody in the West of England has done more to promote and encourage junior chess than the Junior League in Bristol. It won the B.C.F. School Shield in 1966 awarded for outstanding achievements or Cont/d.

enthusiasm in chess. A number of the best players in the Senior League have come up through the Junior League and Gloucestershire are greatly indebted to the hard work put in by Jack Beard, Colin Pillinger and others in furthering junior chess.

Est October the Junior League wanted to replace their obsolete chess clocks which were beyond repair. They approached the Senior League for financial help. We are not wealthy and to be honest it was no concern of ours. But we knew the Junior League operated on a shoe string and we also knew the excellent work it was doing. So we gave them £50 knowing it was for a good cause.

Yours sincerely,

K.C. Cleak

HON. TREASURER
BRISTOL & DISTRICT CHESS LEAGUE"

(Congratulations to Bristol & District Chess League on their generous sponsorship. My apologies to Mr. Cleak for not publishing his letter in full, but, I trust that what I have published will be an example to others. - ED.).

" Dear Sir,

Check Checkmate

It was my pleasure and privilege to attend the English Schools Chess Association's Jamboree at Newton Abbott last April and to serve as steward with many other volunteers.

We were briefed with the necessary instructions (both verbal and written) which were excellent and the whole contest was run splendidly by the organising committee.

Among the many matters for us to watch over at the 7 tables allocated to each of us was one simple instruction "Check checkmates" - a usual procedure in Junior circles.

An unusual incident arose at one of my boards. A girl raised her arm to summon me and asked "Is this checkmate". Everything seemed to fit but I noticed that "mate" was being administered by a supported pawn at KB4, the opponent, a boy, having pawns at his K5 and also N5; I therefore asked her what was her last move and she replied P(B2) to KB4. It was no part of my stewardship to do anything which constituted giving advice or help so I replied "The K cannot move but it is not checkmate". Obviously nothing could interpose and the pawn could not be taken on the KB4 square. A few people gathered round and I tried to shoo them away with the advice that the game is primarily between the two contestants; however the words "en-passant" must have leaked out and the boy told me he did not understand en-passant. Question? Should he suffer the penalty of his own ignorance (this being a competitive game) and resign. After a quiet pause the girl, all honour to her, told her opponent that, and how, he could play P x P e.p. and the game proceeded for a few more moves before the girl deservingly won.

It was a complicated position and although the above may seem, in retrospect, a lot of "fuss about nothing" all of us are capable of devising positions whereby avoidance of mate by P x P e.p. would unleash a counter attack by the opponent leading to a win for him - so that inadvertently valuable "advice" may have been given to a competitor. Organisers of Junior events may wish to clarify this point?

LLOYDS BANK BRITISH CHESS PROBLEM SOLVING COMPETITION

Lloyds Bank, who are currently sponsoring various chess activities have offered to sponsor a British Chess Problem Solving contest. The British Chess Problem Society is now preparing to undertake the detailed organisation of this event which is in three stages:-

- (1) One, or perhaps two, straightforward 2-move problems would be published, with an explanation of the competition, in national, regional and local newspapers which have chess columns, and in chess magazines. Simultaneous publication would clearly be impossible but columnists would be asked to publish conveniently near to a latest date. Competitiors would be asked to send solutions to the Society, naming the publication in which they had seen the problem.
- (2) Entries would be assessed by the Society and successful solvers would be sent a selection of more difficult problems. From their solutions to those, again assessed by the Society, a group of, say, twelve entrants would be selected to take part in the final stage.
- (3) A Plive" event would be held at which a British champion would be found. The probable date for this would be Saturday 5 January 1980.

Westward Ho! will give all publicity to this event in its four editions - July, September, January and April - provided these dates are acceptable to the organisers.

WESTERN UNION EXECUTIVE MEETING

At the March Executive Meeting a lengthy discussion took place on the unusually high number of defaults in County Matches. An all out effort to stamp this out will be made next season, and a resolution to Council was put down increasing the penalty for each default to £3.00 plus board fees.

The BCF delegate pointed out that, although News Flash correctly reported that a recommendation to the Unions not to publish grades of unregistered players was only carried by a narrow majority, in fact, it was supported by 3 Unions out of the 4. These Unions were Northern, Midland and Western.

The Meeting rejected the proposals for chess titles discussed by the BCF.

The date for the Senior and Graded Jamboree was fixed for 29th September at the Rougemont Hotel, Exeter.

After a full discussion, it was resolved that the WECU adopt the same qualifications for publishing a grade as the other Unions (i.e. 18 games must have been played in the previous 2 years out of which 8 must be played in the current season). It was, however, resolved that players who would only qualify under the less stringent existing WECU rules would be included, but, given a distinguishing mark or failing the practicability of that, a supplementary list.

Plymouth College 29 Dec. 1978 to 5 Jan. 1979.

Radio coverage was far more than usual. In addition to regular broadcasts to competitors struggling to overcome the extreme weather conditions, both B.B.C. and Plymouth Sound gave details of play. I was interviewed at the B.B.C. for Morning South West and Plymouth Sound interviewed at the Congress and attended the prizegiving after which I was interviewed.

No T.V. coverage was possible for camera crews that were operating (less than 50%) were all covering the weather hazards.

The provincial N.U.J. strike meant no journalists or photographers but I typed reports and daily ran the pickets to deliver to Western Morning News and Evening Herald Offices. Most, but not all, were published. Copies of some to L. Barden. Two reports were sent to the Daily Telegraph. The first appeared on 4 January but the second was not in my edition which was a half size paper due to other industrial action.

Additional expenses were incurred due to the weather, expecially in hotel bills for those arriving during the night or unable to reach where they were staying. These were mainly for one day only as alternative arrangements were possible later.

A loss on Lloyds Bank tournament is certain, but, one unrequired grant and the unavoidable absence of Peter Clarke for coaching Training Tournament should leave a surplus in this event.

Although bookstall sales were less than half that of last year, local donations were up and the continuous demand for hot drinks should boost canteen profits.

It will take some time to finalise accounts but preliminary estimates indicate there should not be any serious deficiency overall and I do not anticipate having to ask guaranters to contribute.

A 17 year old Swiss trainee bank employee from Zurich, Markus Trepp, won the Lloyds Bank International Junior Chess Tournament at Plymouth College with 5½ points from 7 rounds.

Keith Arkell (Birmingham) who was the only player to defeat the winner tied for second place with Danny King (Bromley) and Erik Teichmann (Cambridge) with 5 points. After losses in the first two rounds, the joint British Boys' under 14 champion Peter Wells of Portsmouth played enterprisingly to finish equal with Milan Drassko (Yugoslavia) on $4\frac{1}{2}$ points.

Hemaining scores were: B. Jacohs (Slough), A. King (Bromley) 4; S. Arnold (Plymouth), G. Lane (Paignton), M. Prettejohn (Truro), D. Weyns (Belgium) 3½; E. Brouwer (Netherlands), R. Casse (Australia), J. Delaney (Eire), T. Milligan (Scotland), G. Senior(Leeds) 3; Jane Garwell (Wales) 2½; C. Van Verdeghem (France)

Trepp finished joint runner-up with international masters Bhend and Partos in the last Swiss national championship. It was unfortunate that he received a bye in the opening round due to the non-arrival of Ralf Lau who was runner-up to grandmaster Packman in the West German championship.

Despite the extreme weather conditions, Lau was the competitor not to reach Plymouth although some were delayed by a day or more. Delaney's flight from Dublin to Exeter was diverted to Southampton. The Dutch player was marwoned for a day in the floods on the Isle of Sheppey, and three of the foreign players spent 11 hours on the only train to reach Plmouth from London on the Sunday.

All roads into Plymouth were impassable and two foreign players were never able to reach their intended hosts. For two days I was unable to get my own car on the road but co-ordinated emergency services by two Plymouth Club members who were mobile by telephone.

B.B.C. radio and Plymouth Sound broadcast messages to those stranded or unable to travel at all to continue their journeys on Tuesday and that they would not be penalised for games missed.

An overall attendance of 93% of entrants testifies to the determination of the competitors and the help given by parents and friends.

Co-operation between controllers and players enabled all unplayed first and second round games to be completed before the start of the fourth round.

Completely blocked roads made it impossible for Peter Clarke to get down from Bude for coaching of West of England Training tournament, but, by combining under 21 and under 18 sections and bringing in strong wisiting players including Hanspeter Scharer (Trepp's companion cum second), an excellent section of 22 was completed.

Philip Walden (Oxford Univ.) won the Devon under 21 championship with Stephen Dilleigh (Plymouth Polytechnic) runner-up. Yim Joslin (Southampton) headed the under 18 training tournament ahead of Ian Cragg (Yeymouth) with Plymouth College boys, Julian Bacon, and Ben Collinson (joint Devon under 18 champion) sharing third place with Jame Seymour (Portsmouth) and David Farndon (Yeovil).

James Brown (St. Olave's G.S. Orpington) won the under 15 open ahead of Robin Cotton (King's St. Ottery) with David McCarthy and Andrew Luffman equal third. Subsidiary sections went to N. Crickmore, A. Osborne and N. Greber.

The under 11 tournaments played prior to the main congress and inclement weather saw 137 young players competing in graded sections. The Devon under 11 championship ended in a tie between Christopher Morrisroe and Andrew Robins both of Newton Abbot.

WEST OF ENGLAND TRAINING TOURNAMENT.

Initially, invitations were sent to 16 players from outside Devon. My thanks to the county junior organisers (general sec. in Vilts.) for their coe operation in providing details of players. The Hampshire & Cornwall junior organisers contacted their own players themselves and made it much easier for me.

Most of those invited replied quickly and in case of non-acceptance further invites were sent to players from the same county. No Wiltshire players took part becasue the two originally invited took five weeks to reply and it was then too late to ask others.

THE MINOR COUNTIES CHAMPIONSHIPS

Once again, Devon won all matches and go into the semi-finals of the Minor Counties Championship. Devon's record in this competition is quite incredible. The Union first entered for this competition in 1974 and Devon have never lost a single match. Great credit must go to Ron Bruce who, as match captain for both County teams, has inspired his players to rise to the occasion even when heavily outgraded.
